General: Transfer Pricing Framework

In Croatia, transfer pricing documentation legislative framework is set out with the Profit Tax Act and the Profit Tax Regulations, as well as the Transfer Pricing Audit Manual (issued by the Ministry of Finance, with the latest version dated July 2019). In addition, Croatian Tax Administration uses the OECD Transfer Pricing Guidelines in practice, although it is not directly adopted into Croatian legislation, nor it contains any references to it.

The use of an arm's length range or statistical measures is not proscribed in the domestic legislation. However, the use of interquartile range is accepted and used in practice.

Accepted Transfer Pricing Methodologies

In principle, the Comparable uncontrolled price method ("CUP") method is the preferred method by the Croatia Tax Authorities ("CTA") but because comparable uncontrolled transactions are difficult to find, in practice, Transactional net margin method ("TNMM") method is the most common transfer pricing method used.

The taxpayer is allowed to apply any other method as long as it can be demonstrated that it leads to an arm's length outcome. The most commonly used methods are CUP, mainly for financial transactions and license fees, and TNMM due to the ability to perform a benchmark with sufficient reliable comparable data. The profit split method is becoming more accepted by the authorities over time but in practice this method is felt to be complicated from a practical perspective.

Transfer Pricing Documentation Requirements

Entities required to prepare transfer pricing documentation in Croatia are companies that conduct transactions with foreign related parties and domestic related parties if one of the related parties is in a privileged tax position or has the right to carry forward tax losses from a previous period.

Taxpayers are required to prepare transfer pricing documentation but submit it only upon request of the tax authorities. The three-tier standardized approach as proposed by the OECD has been implemented in Croatia. There are no local guidelines summarizing the recommendations from BEPS

Action 13, but the latter are followed by the competent tax authorities. In general, compliance with the recommendations of the BEPS Action 13 imply compliance with local rules. Also, there is no threshold below which the transaction does not fall under transfer pricing rules.

The transfer pricing documentation must be submitted in Croatian language.

The documents that must be submitted without specific request by a tax inspector are the notification and filing of a country-by-country report for MNE's that exceed the €750 million annual revenue threshold. Filing of a country-by-country report is only required if the ultimate parent entity or the surrogate parent entity is tax-resident in Croatia. Also, it is required to submit a "PD-IPO form" together with the corporate income tax return which includes an overview of transactions effected with related parties.

Local Jurisdiction Benchmarks

Benchmarking helps to demonstrate that transfer prices are set at arm's length. The CTA accepts pan-European benchmarks if they meet comparable search strategy standards set by the CTA. The CTA generally refers to multiple year data and the interquartile range in terms of benchmarking. In line with the OECD TP Guidelines, a financial update is to be conducted every year. In Croatia, domestic legislation does not explicitly require an annual renewal of the comparability analysis. In practice, a regular update of the financial data (2-year update period) has proven as accepted in practice.

Advance Pricing Agreement "APA"/Bilateral Advance Pricing Agreement "BAPA" Overview

The Profit Tax Act as of January 1, 2017, provides the option to enter into APA's through which taxpayers can agree on the method of determining transfer prices with the Tax Administration ("TA"). The following fees apply: EUR 2,000 for taxpayers with a revenue of up to EUR 400,000, EUR 4,000 for a taxpayer with a revenue between EUR 400,000 and 2.65 million, and EUR 6,600 for a taxpayer with revenue exceeding EUR 2.65 million. In case of a BAPA, there is additional fee of EUR 6,600, for Multilateral APA - of EUR 13,200.

There is no prescribed deadline for APA. In practice, it takes more than one year to conclude an APA.

Transfer Pricing Audits

Taxpayers are required to prepare transfer pricing documentation but submit it only upon request of the tax authorities. During a tax audit, the TA usually provides for 8 plus days for submission of the information requested. In case of transfer pricing documentation, this deadline is usually extended to 30 days, though this extension is not covered by laws and is upon discretion of the tax inspector.

CROATIA

Transfer Pricing Penalties

In Croatia, there are no specific penalties if the obligation for transfer pricing documentation is not met. Since transfer prices are subject to corporate income tax audits, general penalties are applicable. A penalty of EUR 260 to 26,540 can be imposed if the corporate income tax base is not in line with the legal rules. In addition, higher fines are possible for repeated offences.
